UNKNOWN MAN KILLED BY CARS

Ground Into Unrecognizable Mass at Gas House Crossing-Very Little by which to Identify Him.

The southbound freight train on the Consolidated road struck and instantly killed an unknown man about 9.29 o'clock Thursday night at the crossing at the upper end of the city electric light station on North Main street. The engine and the entre train, which was a long one, passed over his head and the upper part of his chest, crushing them into an unrecognizable mass, and scattering his brains, parts of the skull and vital organs along the track. Parts of his skull were found at the frog junt above the crossing, and his heart and liver were found at the frog junt above the crossing, and his heart and liver were found along the track on the other side of the crossing, across which he was thrown. One arm was cut off and hanging by the flesh above the wrist, and other just below the shoulder. His left thigh was also broken.

Just as the man was struck he was seen by Frank Skelly, an insurance agent, who was passing along North Main street, and glaneing down the driveway leading to the crossing, saw a dark object, which he thought was a dog, flying through the air in front of the engine. It fell on the track and the entire train went over it. Mr. Skelly ran to the track and when he found it was a man, notified employes at the electric light station. Fireman Peter Driscoil telephoned to Captain Linton at police headquarters, who notified Medical Examiner Rush W. Kimball by telephone. The train kept on to the Consolidated station where the trainmen reported the accident.

Policeman Casey arrived at the sease of the accident and close of the accident and telephoned to his deed to relate the scene of the accident and telephoned to headquarters, being directed to re-
